

Data Protection policy:

Sidmouth Science Festival is committed to ensuring that we comply with the data protection laws and principles and to meeting our legal obligations as laid down by the Data Protection Act 2018.

The personal data we hold only consists of subscription-based mailing list information so we can send you electronic news, details and fundraising information about the Science Festival.

We take steps to ensure that personal data is up to date and accurate and we provide means for individuals to ask to have their data deleted promptly from such lists.

We do not share our mailing lists with other groups or organisations, or harvest personal data from external sources.

We will provide individuals copies of the data we hold on them, on request.

Your data related queries can be sent to:
info@sidmouthsciencefestival.org

The legislation can be found at the UK government website.

Updated 2023.